

BE A VOLUNTEER

at the Sierra College
Natural History Museum's

Dinosaur Day Science Fest is attended by more than 1000 community members each year, you can help us make it great!

This event is geared towards families and can give you valuable work experience working with children. Volunteers from previous years have said that they all have a great time at the event.

We need volunteers to help with fun experiences:

- facepainting
- digging for "fossils"
- making puppets for children
- doing story time
- and much more.

Date and Time: The event is on Sunday, May 7, 2017 and runs from 9:00am-4:00pm but we will need volunteers between 6:00am and 7:00pm. We will also need set-up help on Saturday, May 6.

Interested? Visit www.sierracollege.edu/dinoday and click the link for volunteers. You can sign up for the activity you would like to be part of and you can also schedule your hours. Shifts are available in 4 hour blocks.

Or contact Keely Carroll at kcarroll@sierracollege.edu or at (916) 660-7924.

Please provide your name, the name of your school (if attending), the day or days you can help out, the number of hours you can help and the times that you are available. (If you have a particular area of interest, like, if you love to do art, include that information as well!)

The Sierra College Natural History Museum is a non-profit, volunteer run organization that provides tours, lectures and community events.
