Now, many of you were in the student section during the Quarry Bowl.

And near the end of the game, the X-factor decided that standing on the bleachers was just not close enough to the field. Here's Julia Ruccione with more in your ... "Word around Campus."

[A13 - THE WORD]

UP FIRST, Graphics Teacher Whitney Lum SHARED THIS ON ... INSTAGRAM WITH THE HASHTAG WHSUNLEASHED.

In the video, the student section ran onto the field after the Quarry Bowl. The X-Factor joined the Varsity cheer and football teams to help sing the fight song. Ms. Lum said this was the best moment of the night because by the look of it, many thought we won the game due to all the love and support on the sidelines.

AND THIS WEEK WE ASKED YOU to tell us about your favorite pet, to go with the story you just saw about Rachel Payan, USING THE HASHTAG WHSUNLEASHED.

Senior Talia Reece said her favorite pet is her one year old dog, Titan. In this picture Talia and her younger sister, Sophomore Capri Reece are hugging Titan one morning before school. Titan might look big and scary but, Talia said he is a sweet loving dog who loves to comfort her and snuggle up.

NOW, HERE IS WHAT'S TRENDING... and skiing in general may be hard but this woman does it with a disadvantage.

Menna Fitzpatrick is a 19 year old blind paralympic skier. While skiing Menna only has 5 percent vision. She skis alongside her guide, Jennifer Kehoe. Together they have won 4 paralympic medals and recently received two silvers and two bronzes at the opening World Cup in Kuhtai.
