Aeries vs. Schoology: Aeries is an online student information system for teachers, administrators, students, and parents. Aeries allows users to view student information such as attendance records, grades, assignments, and completed college requirements. Schoology provides "real world" feedback to the parents by offering a single on-line place to find the most relevant information about their student's education. They can download the app or log on to view their child's grades and most current work. Parents can also sign up for weekly progress emails. See links below.
